

MFP Photovoice Study

Presented to: MFP Steering Committee
April 22, 2015

What is Photovoice?

Photovoice is a process by which people can identify, represent, and enhance their community through a specific photographic technique (Wang & Burris, 1997).

Why use this approach?

- Participatory method with small group dialogue
- Complements existing data collection
- Opportunity to reach different stakeholders and decision makers

Fort McPherson Photovoice

Photo by Joshua

Even though buildings are decaying and falling down, the children are still growing up. In this picture, the boy is focused on what he is doing and not his surroundings. He represents hope for the future, but we must make sure he has a healthy supportive environment for him to learn and grow.

Fort McPherson Photovoice

Photo by Joshua

If you want to have a thriving healthy community, you need to have a place where people can gather. The church is that haven. For many, it is the rock of the community that connects the people.

Guiding Questions

- What made you want to move?
- What in your life is going really well?
- What in your life could be even better?

What is involved?

- Training
- Photo taking and narrative writing
- Telephone debriefing/check-in
- Community sharing
- Stakeholder exhibit

Questions?

For More Information Contact:

Kristi Fuller

404-413-0292

kwfuller@gsu.edu

