We have documentation that it is to be listed in the CDC's 2010 Compendium of Evidence-based HIV Prevention Interventions (EBIs) for researchers, policy decision makers, and prevention providers. Q: Will the RESPECT Intervention NOT be considered for funding as an Effective Behavioral Intervention (EBI) since it is not listed on Attachment 21?	A: Applicants are required to propose implementing at least one EBI (and as many as two) from Attachment 21. Although the RESPECT intervention is not listed in Attachment 21, applicants may propose to implement it as part of CTR if they wish to propose the CTR complementary option. The RESPECT intervention was excluded from Attachment 21 for numerous reasons, including the fact that the Respect EBI is the foundation of HIV pre- and post-test prevention counseling, and also because it dovetails so nicely with HIV rapid testing.

Q: Can you provide specific examples for the difference between cost sharing and supplanted funding or provide clarity between these two abovementioned statements?

A: We define cost sharing in accordance with OMB circular A-110. That is cost sharing and/or matching refers to that portion of project or program costs not borne by the State. Supplanting is when and applicants seeks to reduce funds for an activity specifically because grant funds are available (or expected to be available) to fund that same activity. When supplanting is not permitted, funds must be used to supplement existing program activities and may not replace funds that have been appropriated or allocated for the same purpose.
